

Brett R. Bowhan

Brett Bowhan is the Acting Chief Counsel for the U.S. Department of Energy Idaho Operations Office (DOE-ID). Brett has negotiated the key environmental compliance agreements applicable to the Idaho National Laboratory with the State of Idaho and EPA Region X, and has also negotiated compliance agreements with the states of New York and Colorado as well as the EPA regions in those states.

Brett is a member of the Colorado Bar. He received his JD degree from the University of Denver, Colorado in 1983 and a BA in Philosophy from University of Colorado in 1978. Prior to joining the DOE-ID Office of Chief Counsel, he practiced litigation at the Silver and Kelly, P.C., law firm in Denver, Colorado. While attending law school Brett also clerked for Judge C. Friedman in Littleton Colorado, the Mountain Bell law office, and the firm of Roath and Brega, P.C.