

Will Grant

Will Grant specializes in appropriations law, an area he's been practicing for a decade now, the last five of which have been at the Department of Energy. Will also had hands-on budget execution experience as a budget analyst at the Department of Justice, which helps him "translate" between the lawyers and the Office of the Chief Financial Officer.